Referendum On 'Equity Shop' Is Offer to Thomas

Actors' Association Says if Note Is Adverse Policy Will Be Withdrawn.

In an open letter, made public last night, from the Actors Equity Association, streed by Frank Gillmore, executive accretary, to Augustus Thomas congratulating him upon his appointment as supreme head of the play producers of the country an offer to take a new referendum on the Equity Shop policy was made.

made.

e offer was made on the condition
the managers accept the Equity without further misunderstandings Shop without further misinderstandings in case of a favorable vote of the actors of the United States and Canada and the managers agree to meet with Equity to discuss changes in the new contract between them, to be dated June 1, 1924. If the actors vote against Equity Shop the Equity agrees to withdraw this policy immediately.

the Equity agrees to withdraw this polley immediately.

After congratulating Mr. Thomas upon his appointment and reminding the playright that he was once an actor, the letter enumerates the reforms that the Equity has instigated since its inception four years ago. It relates that it has brought about the security of contract, the two weeks guarantee, better rehearsal conditions; it has spent thousands of dollars to aid stranded actors and made it possible for actors to recover unpaid salaries in breach of contract suits and removed the "joker" clause from the contract, which meant that the actor had to perform to the satisfaction of the manager and stopped the actor from "jumping" his contract. It is said that there are objections to the Equity Shop, which prohibit a non-member from playing in the same cast with members, on the grounds that the Actors Equity Association is affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. The open letter states that Equity Shop, which prohibit as non-ment into effect upon the referendum vote of 30 to 1 of the members, allowing six months to elapse for the discussion of both sides of the question.

"You yourself, Mr. Thomas," the Dramatists' Guild took advantage of this period, and a committee of three, of which you were one, issued a statement which you were one, issued a statement condemning Equity Shop. The actors doubtless read your statement and pondered over it, but it did not affect the result of the vote."

dered over it, but it did not affect the result of the vote."

"It has been stated of late that the opinion of the actors has changed, that they no longer-believe in Equity Shop. We do not think it is so, but for the sake of a peaceful adjustment we should be perfectly willing to send out another referendum vote on the condition that if it were again favorable to Equity Shop the producing managers would accept it without further cavil, as we would in case of a reversal, and both sides get together to consider changes in the new contract to date from June 1, 1924. After the new contract went into effect a permanent board of arbitration could be appointed, such as is now existent, for individual classes, but with an independent umpire."

"However," the letter concludes, "If this proposed solution fails to please you can rest assured that Equity is always willing to listen to any plan that is for the good of the theater, and we will try to work with you in a progressive and enlightened way."
